Administration of Historic Districts, Landmarks, and Protected Properties:

The administration of historic districts and landmarks is guided by the provisions of Chapter 40C of the Massachusetts General Laws and by Chapter 2.78 of the Code of the City Of Cambridge. Other properties may also be subject to Commission jurisdiction including properties with conditional variances and properties governed by individual preservation restrictions.

Any new construction, alteration of exterior architectural features, or demolition within an historic district or on the premises of a protected property or a designated landmark must be reviewed by the Cambridge Historical Commission. No building permit for such work on a protected property, designated landmark, or property within a historic district may be issued by the Inspectional Services Department until a certificate has been issued by the Commission. The Commission must approve the alteration or construction of all structures, including signs, fences, walls, terraces, walks, driveways, light fixtures and the like, which are "open to view from a public street, public way, public park or public body of water," whether or not a building permit is required, and must approve changes in exterior color for properties within a historic district or as otherwise agreed.

The Commission issues three types of certificates. A Certificate of Appropriateness will be issued when the Commission has determined that the construction or alteration will be appropriate for or compatible with the preservation or protection of the historic district, designated landmark, or other protected property. A Certificate of Nonapplicability may be issued when an application does not involve an exterior feature, or when the exterior feature is not then subject to Commission review. A Certificate of Hardship may be issued when failure to approve an otherwise inappropriate project would involve substantial hardship to the applicant and the Commission determines that the project can be accomplished without substantial detriment to the purposes of the district, preservation restriction, or landmark designation.

The Commission considers each application on its own merits, and does not apply specific architectural guidelines. Landscaping with plant materials is not subject to Commission review unless it is planned in conjunction with alterations or new construction. The Commission must approve projects that are not incongruous with the historic aspects or the architectural characteristics of the protected property, landmark, or historic district.
